

Codeless for desktop web devices

Creating Selenium tests with Codeless makes test creation and execution substantially faster, even for the most complicated test scripts that require different types of automation. With Codeless, you save time and can focus on product development and innovation.

For information on how to create test scripts with Codeless, see the documentation in the Codeless UI. For information on accessing help information in Codeless, see Codeless automation.

Note: We recommend that you work with Codeless in Google Chrome.

In this section: